LEAVING THE HEAT BEHIND.

TO REVEL IN COOL SEA BREEZES. THOUSANDS SAIL AWAY BY THE BIG TRANS-

The usual large number of passengers for Europe sailed yesterday by the seven steamers which left here for their various ports of destination in England and on the Continent. The North German Lloyd was crowded on Friday night and the saloon of the Fulds presented a gay appearance, being filled and relatives of the passengers who bid them good bye and good night at the same time, the steamer sailing at 5 a. m. yesterday. The Hamburg-American line's pier was filled yesterday morning with friends of 320 German school teachers who went on their seventh annual excursion to Germany on the steamship Suevia, or that line.

Among the passengers on the Cunard Line steamer Umbria were many well-known people who received the good wishes and farewells of a host of friends who giled the steamer's pier. The Inman and other steamers also took out many travellers bent on cheating the hot weather by seeking sea breezes and cooler

GAME AND SONG BIRDS KILLED BY THE STORM The last terrific thunder storm that swept over ortions of Bergen and Hudson Counties silenced much of the music of the woods by killing hundreds of the birds, either by striking them directly or by so bering and blinding them that they dashed them s to death against the rocks and trees. Every Where dead birds are lying on the ground. The deluge of rain, too, did its share of damage by drowning the roung birds in the nests or destroying the eggs. Sportsmen say that the same state of things prevails on the markes and meadows, and that thousands of game firds have been killed in the nest and on the wing, and the embryo life in countless half-hatched eggs de-stroyed. They do not think the prospect of full bags in the approaching shooting season at all promis-ing.

HE HAS A "WORLD-SPEECH" OF HIS OWN A MAGICIAN WHOSE LANGUAGE IS WONDERFUL

TO HEAR-SOME OF HIS FEATS. sor Apollo De Kaunet is here. pollo is, according to his own description, on his circular, " Emperial artist and Cavaller of the Russian, Persian, Turkish, etc., Court." He is a magicoprestidigitateur and an anti-spiritist. He wears goldbowed spectacles and a gold-colored beard to match. He was born in Russia, but is a citizen of the world. If there is anything more wonderful than his magic it is his speech. In the course of a single sentence it roams through the vocabularies of two hemispheres. He is a sort of linguistic comet. When he was serv ing his time in the business of "Emperial prestidigi tating artist and Cavalier" he lived in many lands, and adopted whatever he thought best in each of their languages. The result is astounding. It beats

Professor Apollo De Kaunet is living at No. 420 East Fiftieth-st., where he entertained a number of newspaper men yesterday afternoon at a "seance" of anti-spiritism and prestidigitation. The "seance" was a great success. The professor performed many astounding tricks, and all went merrily except conversation. Fortunately the professor had provided eif with interpreters. There were five of these unhappy beings, who perspired freely over their efforts to capture such of the professor's winged words as they understood and fix up one consecutive English sentence Professor Apollo de Kaunet paralyzed the repo by asking them for money for one of his feats. They could muster no more than three nickels among them; so the Russian wizard gathered a handful of dollars from their coat-collars and linings. He wouldn't ex-plain how it was done. The most marvellous thing he accomplished was to catch with his right hand a bullet fired at it from a pistol by a reporter who was scknowledged to be an expert shot.

The professor is going to give a series of entertain nents in this city by and by, and they will be well worth attending, if only to hear that weird dialect of his. Can anything exceed this "N. B." appended to his circular of invitation? The following audiences before crowded publics will take place after the per-formance before the press!"

ANNIVERSARY OF AN ANCIENT SCHOOL. The hall of La Salle Academy, No. 44 Seco t., was crowded yesterday afternoon by the friends of the students, the occasion being a series of contests in calisthenies, vocal music, recitations and readings to celebrate the 208th anniversary of the foundation of the school. Master William Donnelly took the silver medal for the best recitation, his piece being "Patrick Henry's Speech." William A. Margraf won the medal for the best reading of "Irish Exfled Boys," a peem commemorative of De La Salle's reception of the sons of the exiles after the Battle of the Boyne. The piece was written by Brother Noah, director of the academy. Terence B. Maguire was first in the vocal music contest, singing "Alpine Horn." James O'Donnell won the Indian club medal and Master Schlosser the medal for dum-bell exer-

FIVE BABY BUFFALOES BORN IN A WEEK. It is claimed that the buffalo is fast dying out and that before many years there will not be found a specimen of that animal where thousands were seen before it would seem that this theory is an error, judging from what the Wild West exhibition shows. Buffale Bill left this country for England with sixteen head of buffalo. Without receiving any additions from the West, he has now in his herd twenty-one. youngsters have come into the world within the last week, at the camp at Erastina, Staten Island, and they are now on exhibition. Hereafter the evening performances of the Wild West will begin at 8:50, instead of half an hour earlier. An extra boat has been placed in service by the Staten Island ferry, between the 2 and 2:30 boat, to better accommedate the Buffalo Bill, after the close of his present season at Erastina, which, thus far, is the most successful he has ever had, will take a well-carned vacation. This he proposes to take in the way of an excursion in primitive style, accompanied by several British nobleme and men prominent in English politics and with several distinguished Americans. He will take the trail from his ranch at North Platte, Neb., and with wagons and saddle horses, camping out when night overtakes them, cross the prairies, to Lower California. He will make the start in the fall and occupy in the trip several weeks.

A FORGER SAYS HE MUST HAVE BEEN CRAZY Otto Alexander is a young German who has been the book-keeper for Giles & Co., lithographers at No 62 College place, for four or five years. On Friday he presented to J. D. W. Grady, cashler of the Seventh National Bank, at Broadway and John-st., a check for $5,000, purporting to be signed by William Noble, illder, of No. 171 Broadway. The Giles Company familiar with Noble's signature, filled in a check. The forgery was so cleverly done that the cashier did not detect it. After the check had been certified, Alexander sent a boy to the office of Hesslage & Colgate at No. 59 Wall-st., to have it cashed. When the firm sent their messenger to the bank to see if the check was genuine, the paying teller happened to remember that the check bore a higher number than it should. Alexander was then arrested. At the Tembs Court vesterday he admitted his guilt, and said he must have been crazy when he did it. He was held for trial.

OUTINGS ON THE IRON STEAMBOATS.

What a day's outing really means, and how many there are who seek it, can be seen by studying the tide of travel on the various excursion routes to-day. The Iron Steam-bost Company controls the only all-water routes to Coney Island and Long Branch, and with its fleet of seven large stand and Long Branch, and with its neet of seven large steamers it is able to accommodate the travel offered, even on special occasions. To-day the Long Branch route will be opened with two trips to the Ocean Pier, the Taurus leaving West Twenty-third-st. at 9:30 a. m. and 3:30 p. m., and Pier 1 North River at 10 a. m. and 4 p. m. The trip to the Branch gives more fresh air and ocean view than any other nearby excursion offered, and the round-trip may be made in fine hours, giving a view of the Branch and the pretty places on the Jersey coast.

The Coney Island time-table to-day is the full summer schedule, with boats from 9 a. m. to 9 p. m. and late boat from the Iron Piers.

VENGEANCE ON THE POLICE DEPARTMENT. After Inspector Steers had left his office at Police Headquarters yesterday afternoon, a wild-looking German threw a package containing street sweepings nto the office through the open window. Kelleher arrested him and he said he was Frederick Helwig, an upholsterer, of No. 55 First-ave. He had been punished without cause, he said, and he wanted revenge. He was locked up on a charge of malicious mischlef, but he was believed to be insane.

CENTRAL PARK NOTES.

The Dakota, Dalhousie, Navarro and other gigantic apartment houses on the border of the Park tower above he foliage like so many huge monuments. Many carriages are seen newadays driving toward Westchester County, occupied only by the coachman, the pet dog and the family charry, and carrying a lot of precious bundles fastened under the boot. Their desti-nation is the owner's country villa.

The romance of the Lohengrin swan bonts suddenly notions of the man who propels the craft with his legs. An Englishman recently remarked that he did not know what the letters D. P. P. signified on the wateringcarts in the park, but that they could appropriacly stand for "deuced pretty park."

for "deuced pretty park."

If some of the people who sprawl upon the grass of Saturdays and Sundays would but realize that, according to the neighboring sign, they are denominated " common.

The signs near the music stand, that " gentlemen will please not smoke within this line," when interpreted ertain way, seem extremely absurd, for a man would have o be far thinner than Barnum's living skeleton in order to violate this rule.

The "Fantalsie Militaire," with which Cappa's band closed their programme on the Mall last Sunday afternoon, was greatly enjoyed by the large audience, and are petition was demanded and given.

TO OUST WHITE MEN FROM INDIAN LANDS. Buffalo, June 23 (Special).—County Judge Hammond yesterday granted an order why Martin Stingler, Albert Luce, Daniel Hilliker, Lewis Snyder, Chauncey Jemison, Charles Hare, Aaron Luce, Cyrus Hilliker and Albert Pairchild should not be compelled to remove from lands occupied by them on the Cattaraugus Indian reservation. The order was issued under a State law made to cover races where white pensions occupied Indian lands. The proceedings are taken by Andrew John, jr., chief of the Seneca Nation of Indians, and is intended mainly to oust the descendants of Chauncey Jemison, who married a white missionary many years ago, and whose children are not recognized as being Indians.

SUICIDE TO ESCAPE THE HEAT.

Caroline Lowenthal, who has lived for some weeks with her son and daughter at No. 306 Franklin-ave., Brooklyn, committed suicide Friday night by hanging. She fastened a rope to the boit on one of the doors and hrew her entire weight upon it, death slowly following by strangulation. She retired the night before in a despondent mood, trouble and the extreme heat unsettling her mind temporarily.

HE GAVE THE CORONER WARNING.

John Cronin, who lived at No. 355 Bergen-st., Brook-lyn, wrote a letter to Deputy Coroner Kelly on Friday, saying that he was tired of living and would common suicide. A clerk was sent to see about it yesterday morning, but Cronin could not be found. NEWPORT PROSPECTS.

DAILY GROWING BRIGHTER. PERSONAL AND SOCIAL TOPICS OF THE OPENING SEASON.

Newport, R. I., June 23 (Special).-The "prospects" for the season of 1888 are daily growing brighter, and it now looks as if all would be well in due time. An unusually large number of cottagers have arrived this week and more will be on hand next week, to gladden the hearts of the tradespeople. The greater portion of the cottagers have already arrived and they are thoroughly enjoying the beautiful scenery afforded here and the delightful weather which has prevailed ever since the close of the month of May. There is a fair demand for cottages at greatly reduced rents, and the boarding-house and hotel keepers are well satisfied with the outlook. The season has opened well, all things considered, a few of the cottagers are quietly entertaining friends but the big events are yet in the future. The event of the present week was the Eyre-Binney wedding, which brought many people from New-York, Boston, Philadelphia ewhere. It is said that there will be other weddings here during the season. Mrs. W. K. Vanderbilt, Mrs. F. W. Vanderbilt, Mrs. J. P. Kernochan, Mrs. H. Victor Newcombe and other well-known ladies will be apt to enterlain on a very elaborate Mrs. Cornelius Vanderbilt will not be hind in entertaining upon her return from England. Newport is rejoicing in the fact that she has not had an unpleasant day thus far this month. rain is needed very much, and no one, not even the tradesmen, will grumble should the place be visited with some heavy rainfalls. The Casino festivities, with dances, music, etc., will soon be in order, and the fashionable polo and other sports will be called early next month. The only drawback to a very brilliant season is the fact that so many prominent families are in mourning.

George B. De Forest, of New-York, has arrived and ented the cottage on Bellevue ave. owned by Charles F. Chickering, of New-York.

Mr. and Mrs. M. O. Wilson, nee Aster, of New-York, will occupy the Richard T. Wilson cottage on Narragansett-ave. T. Lynn, of New-York, has taken the Groff cottage in Bull-st., and H. J. McGlenen, of Boston, the Buckngham cottage on Howard-ave. Mrs. Amos Binney, of Boston, has leased her cottage on the corner of Kay and Bull sts. to George R. schieffelin, of New-York. It was Mrs. Binney's daughter who was married a few evenings ago to Mr. Lincoln L. Eyre, of Philadelphia. Mrs. Harriet N. Pond, of New-York, who is having new cottage erected on Bellevue ave., has taken one of the Lieber cottages on Rhode Island-ave.

Mrs. Hope Slater, J. C. Knight and William Gamwell, jr., of Providence, have arrived at their cottages for the season.

Mrs. General G. K. Warren, of Boston, is located for the summer at the cottage on Channing-ave. owned by John N. A. Griswold, of New-York. Miss Hone, R. S. Hone, J. L. Barclay and Miss praper, of New-York, are visiting friends here.

Among the polo players who have arrived are J. L. Kernochan, W. K. Thorn and Thomas Hitchcock, jr. Eliot Zbrowski, one of the best players in the country will arrive at the Berkeley the first week in July. Alfred Bates, of Boston, has arrived at the White-

Mrs. Thomas Hitchcock, of New-York, has ar rived at the R. S. Hone cottage on Spring-st., and Dr. W. A. Watson, also of New-York, is occupying his ewn cottage on the same thoroughfare. Mrs. George A. Osgood, of New-York, has arrived at one of the Pinard cottages for the summer. William H. Osgood, of New-York, has arrived at the De Rham cottage on Bellevue ave. Mr. Osgood is having a fine villa erected on Bellevue-ave, and he hopes to have it completed early in the fall.

J. W. Paul, of Philadelphia, has taken possession of the Maitland cottage on Third st. G. M. Hutton, of Baltimore, and family are at their Castle Hill cottage which they purchased a few months ago from the heirs of the late Arthur Bronson, of New-York.

ON THE JERSEY COAST.

A PROMISING OUTLOOK AT LONG BRANCH. IMPROVEMENTS AT THE MOTELS-SOME OF THE EX-

PECTED GUESTS. Long Branch, June 23 (Special).-The season here promises to be more prosperous than ever. The cot-tages on Ocean-ave, and the thoroughfares leading to that driveway are all rented or will be occupied by that driveway are all represent of the coming season their owners. The prosperity of the coming season is indicated by the marked increase in cottage rentals and the great demand for hotel rooms. The hotel proprietors say that they have had more applications for rooms thus far this season than they have had for many years up to the same week in June. fact, all the indications point to a wonderfully successful and prosperous season. The only trouble here has been the want of more small cottages near the beach. Several hundred cottages, containing from seven to ten rooms each, could be rented with out any difficulty. A number of well-known New York and Philadelphia capitalists are talking of purchasing land on some of the streets running to the ocean and erecting thereon groups of cottages for small families. This investment would pay a hand-some dividend to the holders of the property. It is merely a question of time when such a scheme is started, as the most of the cottages here are too large for small families. The town authorities have awakened from sleep and have started a number of improvements. most noticeable is the thorough grading of Ocean-This popular drive, which runs along the bluff, has been in a most wretched condition for several seasons. This year it is one of the best roadways along the coast. All the hollows in it have been filled up and the enfire avenue has been covered with Shark River gravel, which has been rolled down, making a fine roadbed.

The Iron Steamboat Company of New-York has the exclusive right to land passengers at the great Ocean Pier this season. The pier has been made bright with new paint and is as clean as a parlo The new landing pier at the sea end is pleted and ready for the boats, which begin running

The tracks of the New-York and Long Branch Railroad are in the best of order. The bridges over the several branches of the Shrewsbury River have been rebuilt, and in several cases replaced with strong iron structures. The Bay Route of the New-Jersey Central Railroad has a new double steel track from Sandy Hook to the West End station, where it connects with the tracks of the New-York and Long Branch Railroad. With its new steel steamer this route promises to be more popular than ever.

The shore-bound passengers on the Pennsylvania Railroad trains out of New-York have been grumbling for some time because the commuters from Newark, Elizabeth and Rahway have crowded into the Long Branch trains, thus compelling the passengers for Long Branch, Asbury Park, Ocean Grove and other coast resorts to stand until the trains leave Rahway. The company has inaugurated the much-needed reform this week, and the local commuters are now forced to travel on the local trains. When the change was made the commuters swore and howled. as was expected, but the rule will be enforced. The shore trains stop at Newark, Elizabeth and Rahway only for the purpose of taking on passengers.

Norman L. Munro, the wealthy New-York publisher, who is the owner of a large amount of valuable property at Long Branch, Branchport, Pleasure Bay and Scabright, is still energetically pushing for ward all sorts of hotel and cottage improvements. He ward all sorts of hotel and cottage improvements. He has two of the fastest steam launches in the world now running between Branchport and the Highlands of Navesink. They were built for Mr. Munro by the Herreshoffs, and are named the Jersey Lily and Our Mary in honor of Mrs. Langtry and Mary Anderson. They are handsonedy fitted up.

The visitors to the coast will be pleased over a new rule adopted by the transportation lines. This season they will have a choice of three routes between Long Branch and New-York on the same tickets. They can travel by rail to Sandy Hook and thence to New-York by boat or can choose between the Central or Irensylvania all-rail routes to the metropolis.

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS SINCE THE BATTLE. THOUSANDS OF VETERANS TO BE PRESENT-THE

THREE DAYS' PROGRAMME. For the last six months or more the Society of the Army of the Potomac has been preparing on a vast scale for the celebration of the coming anniversary of the Battle of Gettysburg. Probably 10,000 members of the Society will revisit the field on which the Army of the Potomac won its most signal victory, and the three battle days, July 1, 2 and 3, will be given over to a series of patriotic exercises of almost National dignity and importance. Stimulated by the success of last year's reunion of the Philadelphia Brigade and Pickett's Confederate Division, the veterans of the Army of the Potomac have invited the survivors of Lee's army to take part in the anniversary services The Virginia organizations have formally accepted and will send about 3,000 members to the celebration. Many Southern veterans from other States are also expected. New-York will be represented by the 9th Regiment, which will go as an escort to the Society of the Army of the Potomac, and by Governor Hill and his staff, probably, and by hundreds of the survivors of the fifty-two organizations which on July 2 and 3 are to unveil monuments to mark their positions in the battle. New-Jersey will send Governor and his staff, a large part of her National Guard, and as many unattached veterans as apply for transportation. Pennsylvania will be represented by Governor Beaver and his staff, the Philadelphia Brigade, and about 2,500 members of the State Grand Army of the Republic. President Cleveland has been asked to go on from Washington with his Cabinet for the exercises on July 3. It has been given out that he will read Lincoln's famous Gettysburg speech from the rostrum in the National Cemetery, but his name has not been put down yet on the official

THE ORDER OF EXERCISES. The exercises on the field will naturally fall under two heads, those conducted formally by the Society of the Army of the Potomac and the division brigade and regimental reunions, followed by the dedication of the monuments. The more formal ceremonies will begin next Sunday with an open-air meeting of the survivors of the First Army Corps (Reynolds's) at the foot of the Reynolds statue in the National Cemetery. Governor Beaver, of Pennsylvania, will make the opening address. The other speakers will be General Abner Doubleday and General John C. Robinson, who succeeded to the command of the First Corps after Reynolds's death on the first day of the fight. On Monday morning, July 2, all the corps organizations will meet separately, coming together in the afternoon at the meeting of the whole Society in the Gettysburg Rink. In the evening there will be a "general reunion of the Blue and the Gray," the Army of the Potomac entertaining the Army of Northern Virginia. General Daniel E. Siekles will preside. General J. B. Gordon Governor of Georgia, will make a speech introducing to the Southern veterans James A. Beaver, Governor of Pennsylvania. Governor-Beaver will make an address of welcome. Chaplain James McCabe, of Petersburg, Va., will respond for the Army of Northern Virginia. General Sickles will introduce the Chaplain. Other well-known officers on both sides will make addresses. Bishop Henry C. Potter, of New-York, had promised to make the speech of welcome at the rink, but he was called away to London on church business and had to decline. Governor of Pennsylvania. Governor Beaver will make an address of welcome. Chaplain James

The set anniversary oration will be delivered on Tuesday afternoon from the rostrum in the National Cemetery by George William Curtis. Surroundings more inspiring for the higher sort of oratory would be hard to find, and the Society looks for great things from so polished and graceful a speaker as Mr. Curtis. An anniversary poem will be read by George Parsons Lathrop. General John C. Robinson will preside. The reunion will close with the annual dinner of the Society of the Army of the Potomac at the Rink in the evening. In the intervals between these general exercises the various brigades and regiments will have their special meetings on all parts of the big battle-field. The New-York veterans will have to find time to dedicate with appropriate ceremonies their fifty-two regimental and battery monuments. Pennsylvania, too, and New-Jersey are to add some handsome memorials to the gallantry and devotion of their troops. The unveiling of the fifty-two New-York monuments will at last give this State that credit on the Gettysburg battle-field which only its disproportionate row of headstones in the National Cemetery now makes conspicuous. Ohio, Massachusetts and Pennsylvania have had memorials up for a year or more and many smaller States have followed thefr The set anniversary oration will be delivered of headstones in the Massachusetts and Pennsylconspicuous. Ohio, Massachusetts and Pennsylvania have had memorials up for a year or more and many smaller States have followed their lead. New-York's monuments, however, will probleadly surpass the rest in numbers and effect, when they are completed. The Legislature last year voted $250,000 in a lump for the 92 Newyear voted $250,000 in a lump for the 91 Newyear voted $250,000 in a lump for the 92 Newwhen they are completed. The Legislature last year voted $250,000 in a lump for the 92 New-York regiments and batteries which fought at Gettysburg. Each organization will get $1,500 of this for an individual marker or tablet. Seventy-five thousand dollors will go to building an imposing State monument to all the troops. A description of the various regimental monuments, with their places on the battle-field. must be postponed for another article. How to feed and shelter the thousands of veterans and sightseers who will flock to Gettysburg next week has been a serious problem for the society. Gettysburg is not a large town, and hotel accommodations are limited. The people of the place have patriotically agreed to turn all their spare room over to the use of the Society, and have organized committees to look after the comfort and convenience, as far as possible, of all who may attend the reunion. The Army of the Potome, through General Sickles and others, has taken the trouble to have two bills introduced in Congress to meet the emergency. One called upon the Secretary of War to furnish Government tents for the use of the veterans and the militiamen who wanted to camp on the battle-field. After some difficulty, it was passed last week, and the Society can now offer shelter, at least, to all its guests.

The other bill, appropriating $25,000 for the expenses of the reunion, was reported favorably by the Military Committee of the House, but has not yet been passed. It was the Society's intention to build a temporary mess-hall in some convenient part of the field and serve meals to all eigners at $1 a day. The proceeds, if any, were to be deducted from the appropriation. From 5,000 to 10,000 people could probably have been fed by this plan. The bill may be passed this week, but even if it does it may be difficult to get everything in order in the few days now left to the local committees.

SOME OF THE MEN WHO WILL BE THERE. The celebration will be notable, of course, for the number of well-known military men it will draw together. Dozens of surviving generals on both sides have accepted invitations to be present at the reunion. Among the survivors of General Meade's staff will be General Daniel Butterfield, General Hunt, the chief of artillery, and General Ingalls. Of the corps commanders, Generals Doubleday, Sickles, Howard, Slocum and Pleasanton are likely to be present. Some of the division commanders who have accepted invitations are Generals Robinson, of the First Corps; Gibbon, of the Second; Hobert Ward, of the Third; Ayres and S. Wylie Crawford, of Sedgwick's old Corps; Barlow, of the Eleventh, and D. M. Gregg, of the Cavalry Corps. Among the brigade commanders on the list are Generals Charles K. Graham, Carr. Roy Stone, A. S. Webb, Carrell, de Trobriand, Berdan (of the Sharpshooters), Shaler, Bartlett, Ames, Coster, G. S. Greene, and McIntosh and J. I. Gregg, of the Cavalry. On the Confederate side the most conspicuous visitors will be General Longstreet, who has promised to come up from Georgia for the reunion. General McLaws will come along, probably, as will General J. B. Gordon, of Georgia. Another "brigadier" will be Senator Wade Hampton, who fought with the Rebel cavalry. Governor Fitz Hugh Lee, of Virginia, is expected also, with his brother, "Runny" Lee, now a member of the House of Representatives. anton are likely to be present. Some of the di-

A statement published in a morning paper to the effect that there is a disagreement between Colonel McCauli and Theodore Moss, because Henry E. Abbey had let Wallack's to the former for the summer season at less than usual terms, appears to be without foundation. When asked about the matter yesterday, Mr. Moss said: "There is no trouble between Colonel McCauli and myself about the rent, which is a cartiarly satisfactory. The statement the rent, which is entirely satisfactory. The is incorrect in all particulars. The only possible founda-tion for it is that our views differed somewhat about dividing the expenses for extra advertising."

FEES THAT ARE DUE THE CITY. CONTROLLER MYERS FINDS HE 'IS FAR BEHIND

AND WANTS COLLECTIONS HURRIED UP. The companies' reports to the State Engineer and Surveyor show that there are in use in New-York

2,231 street cars, each of which, under the city ordinances, ought to pay an annual license fee of $20 This car license is an addition to the percentages on gross receipts due from the railway companies. Controller Myers has been looking into the natter, and has written a letter to Mayor Hewitt, stating that he finds that the amount of these car licenses due the city up to January 1, 1886, with six per cent interest, was $1,618,253, of which up to that time only $172,165 19 has been paid. A part of the sum due has been outlawed.

The total collections for ten years, ending December 31, 1887, made by the Mayor's Marshal, amounted to but $65,870, while the fees for that period reached the sum of $610,105. The Bureau of City Revenue in the Finance Department has, since January 1, 1886, colected $139,514, and the Corporation Counsel has suits in the courts against the Third Avenue road for about $200,000 or more. Some of the companies have contested the legality of these fees, and in some cases with success, but according to the State Engineer's report for 1887 the amount due the city which is undisputed for that year is $70,290, of which the Mayor's Marshal collected but $20,465. Controller Myers advises that the collection of these fees be placed in the bands of the Bureau of City Revenue, but solely on the ground that it has facilities for handling the business not possessed by the Mayor's Marshal. It is understood that Mayor Hewitt favors Controller Myers's recommendation and will take the proper steps for the more effectual collection of these fees without delay.

EARLY VEGETABLES FROM TEXAS.

A consignment of vegetables from Southwestern Texas may be seen in the office of J. T. Nagle, No. 149 Fourth-ave., near Fourteenth-st. Mr. Nagle is agent for the Southwest Texas Immigration Association, who claim to have land for sale from a dollar up, in all the southwestern counties of that State. The vegetr bles sent North are in-tended to show what can be grown in the country. The cellection includes a huge "double" onion, grown at Rock-point, Aransas Co., by J. F. Frondelige. It was planted in January and now weighs three and one-quarter pounds. A beet root grown by the same man, weighing three and three-quarter pounds, is also on exhibition. Two "mag-num" potatoes, each weighing three-quarters of a pound, and a Chilli red potato weighing one and a quarter pounds, are on view, as also a bunch of grarife stalks, twenty-three and a Chill red potato weighing one and a quarter pound, are on view, as also a bunch of garlie stalks, twenty-three in number, weighing five and three-quarter pounds. Mr. Nagle has the vegetables ranged on the mantelpiece of his office and takes pleasure in showing them and giving any other information to persons interested in the products of Texas, or intending to settle there.
